
Title: Finth Desryn-A Bio

Author: Hands of Virtue

When Crawworth resigned, he named Finth Desryn, at that time Maser of Arms of the Paladin's Guild, to take his place as acting Captain of the Guard of Trinsic, on of the best security forces in Britannia.

So far, Finth has been extremely thorough and dedicated in his investigation of the agents working against the security of Trinsic or Britannia. He was the one responsible for the discovery of Juo'Nar's treachery in the first place, in the investigation ordered by Crawworth, and has since then tightened the grip on Trinsic's guards to avoid another invasion like during the Crisis in Britannia.

While attempting to seize the arms and armor carried by a caravan, Juo'Nar killed Finth's wife, Tali Desryn. It is unclear if this was in retaliation for Finth's involvement in the Fall from grace of Juo'Nar from the Paladin's Guild, but this incident certainly left little doubt, this was a personal attack in retribution.

As the number of attacks on Britannia receded, Finth siezed the opportunity to organize a counter strike, and prepared the city for the next confrontation. To date, Trinsic's guards remain ever vigilant, and ready for what ever may come.